

FINAL NEWSLETTER

Co-funded by the European Union

The WOWSA project (What's on the Web Safe for All Family Members - A Family Learning Approach to Building Digital Literacy Competences) officially ends on November 30th, 2022. Therefore, we share with you the final newsletter to leave you with the final updates about our project.

WOWSA's results

You have been waiting for it! The WOWSA materials are now ready in all partner languages (Czech, German, Greek, English, French, Portuguese, Slovenian) plus Arabic (thank you InterAktion's team!).

The resources are available for free on our platform: <http://elearning.wowsa.eu/>

- Induction to Pedagogy for Parents - A set of tools supporting parents as primary educators of their children and senior members of their families.
- Digital Literacy Curriculum for Parents - Including training materials for parents on the topic of digital and media literacy.
- Family Learning Toolkit - Comic Strips for children, Interactive Magazines for teenagers and Audio Books for senior adult learners.
- In-service Training Programme for Adult Educators - To support their engagement with the new family learning resources developed.

Final Conference and Final Transnational Partners Meeting

On November 8th and 9th, the WOWSA partners gathered in Graz, Austria, to attend WOWSA's final conference organised by the coordinator of the project, InterAktion.

This event was also the last opportunity for the partnership to meet in person to plan the very last tasks of the project.

We had a lot of fun producing all of these resources and we hope that you will enjoy them. Feel free to use them within your family learning unit!

Thank you for following our 2 year adventure!
